00:17:36 Chanda Parmar-Bonta: Morning from Whadjuk Noongar Country, Perth, WA. Good to hear the speakers and especially good to hear and see you Anne.

00:17:59 Joeline Baker-Lang: Hi from Bediagal Country in Sydney.

00:18:14 Denise Shrivell: Sadly relevant topic - thanks for highlighting it

00:18:31 Brooke Nolan: Hi from Sri Lanka LK

00:18:55 Roger tonkin: Only 40% ? !!!

00:19:00 Anne Fitzgerald: Attending from Dharug and Gundungurra ngurra. Thanks for the opportunity.

00:21:43 Kym Nicholson: All of these are fully on display on the Socials & seem to be allowed by these platforms.

00:22:08 Denise Shrivell: QAnon too maybe?

00:22:20 Murray Sayle: MAGA

00:22:26 Pamela Collett: Perhaps the term "right wing" extremism is confusing

00:22:47 Kym Nicholson: Yes, Denise. QAnon should be on that list.

00:23:15 Fred Sim: Yes, perhaps it could be "Extremism" . Period.

00:23:17 Pamela Collett: White supremacy seems basic to these extremists

00:23:31 Pamela Collett: whoops spell check extremists

00:23:50 Pamela Collett: Or should it be "terrorists"?

00:24:27 Carol Kerstholt: Hi from Dharawal country, Wollongong, NSW. We all need to pay attention to extremism as it is gaining more publicity by the day but it doesn't enhance our life on this planet.

00:25:05 Lucy Tighe: What is a research question re: right-wing extremism that people in the chat would love to see explored?

00:25:16 Linda Tullberg: Center For Inquiry did a webinar last week on QAnon, which is available on their web site. It highlights that QAnon very much derives from historical anti-Semitic conspiracies.

00:26:38 Linda Tullberg: Here is the link to the CFI webinar
<https://centerforinquiry.org/video/qanon-blood-libel-for-the-digital-age/>

00:27:33 Lucy Tighe: Thanks Linda!!

00:27:48 Gerard Biddle: hi all sorry bit late

00:28:10 Anthony Jackson: What are the panels view on the role the main stream media rg Newscorp play in the succinct promotion of RWE agendas by Fox and others. Thanks.

00:28:27 christine agius: In response to Lucy Tighe's question, I (and a team of researchers) am working on the relationship between anti-feminist sentiment and the far-right, so where gender fits is of interest for discussion for me. We've just produced a report on this studying Victoria and online far-right and anti-feminist activity

00:28:27 Glenn O: The National Party.... :)

00:28:28 Fred Sim: Jeepers.... far (right) out.....

00:28:43 Marie Yau: I'm shaking my head at this list!

00:28:43 Fred Sim: That's quite a list....

00:29:08 Chanda Parmar-Bonta: I shudder! we hear virtually nothing in our media

00:29:37 Denise Shrivell: Why is it so hard for the Morrison Govt to call this out? It's so dangerous & alarming.

00:29:46 Lucy Tighe: Wow Christine!! I'm in Victoria as well and would love to hear more about your research! This is a huge area of interest for me too

00:29:57 Anne Layton-Bennett: Suspect most of us are Marie. Chilling to think there are so many who embrace this kind of ideology. Mystified as to why though.

00:30:22 Roger tonkin: Is there a cross-over between White Supremacy and the Religious Right in Australia?

00:30:51 christine agius: Lucy, our report is here: <https://apo.org.au/node/307612>

00:31:03 Linda Tullberg: In the US, these alt right groups coordinate to manipulate social media to engage people on the edge but also to promote stories into the mainstream media. Is this happening in Australia?

00:31:19 Narelle Wilson: I would love to read more about your research Christine.

00:31:22 Bob Makinson: We need an Australian equivalent of the UK/European Searchlight magazine (<https://www.searchlightmagazine.com/>) and website, to be a common focus for antifascism information. Too fragmented at present, and info sources are too diffuse for many people to track.

00:31:30 Katherine Ellis: Interested in your thoughts on the role that media is playing in amplifying right wing views by giving it a platform. And what could be done about that.

00:31:32 Marion Gevers: Morrison govt doesn't call it out because a number of people in their party are active promoters of RWE. Dutton being one of them.

00:31:39 Lucas Hainsworth: The biggest red flag that I see, literally on Twitter and FB, is people who refer to themselves and identify as patriots. Considering being called a Patriot is something that someone calls you, not a title you give to yourself!

00:31:41 Susan Pinnock: Is there a particular distribution of these right wing extremist groups across states in Australia?

00:32:28 Lucy Tighe: Thank you Christine!!

00:32:30 Anne Layton-Bennett: Agree, Marion.

00:34:17 Katherine Ellis: Isn't it because young people are looking for a sense of belonging, a sense of glory?

00:34:28 ali rizk: "sunni victimhood" was a clear element in ISIS recruitment

00:34:32 Hayden Starr (Australia Institute): A little reminder, the chat has options for 'all panellists' or 'all panellists and attendees'. Choose the former option to allow your comments to be seen by everyone.

00:35:32 Jeff Wicks: The latter?

00:35:39 Bev Majda: Greetings from Adelaide. I believe Hayden means the latter

00:35:58 Cindy He: to everyone now: as a young person who saw educated, multilingual friends fall to right wing extremist thought/online communities, how can we in the community help combat it? where and how can we volunteer?

00:36:01 Hayden Starr (Australia Institute): Correct Jeff! My bad

00:36:09 Haroon Kasim: Would it be fair our understanding of far right extremist movement is limited to the White Supremacist / Neo Nazi groups.

00:36:22 Craig Walter: Is there a 'soft fascism' emerging in communities due to frustration that the extremist tap into as a patriotic cause?

00:36:25 Peter Rogers: Great point Lucas - I've always found the self-title of "patriot" deeply uncomfortable.

00:36:34 Alan Gribbin: the parallels between Duttons rise in politics and the movie of 'killing heinrik' rheinhart are scary. The third reich preyed on the extreme right amongst the populous.

00:37:00 Dr S A Hamed Hosseini: the relation between action and ideology is two ways, and action does not need to be necessarily violent (in the first place). it is not always the case that people behave based on their beliefs but rather in most cases, people choose their beliefs to justify their intension, actions and to explain their life experiences. so in this bilateral relation between action and belief, we bring conditions into the equation.

00:37:02 Bill Young: Social Media sadly gives everyone a megaphone.

00:37:04 Anne Goyne: Is it time we started identifying people with a history of violence and monitoring them more closely. I am not in favour of social monitoring, but it seems to me people with a history of violence have crossed a line and are therefore are an actual threat to others. They may even be described as 'predators'.

00:38:11 Denise Shrivell: it's not just social media - it's the entire information eco-system - from mainstream media to politicians to community leaders - which then flows to social media, the dark web- but the underlying causes of right wing extremism are not social media platforms. (though also think social media platforms should be doing more to de-platform these ideologies)

00:38:34 Roger tonkin: Is White Supremacy a reaction to Multiculturalism and a contemporary emergence of what led to the deep undercurrents that fed the White Australian policy in the 50s and 60s?

00:38:39      Monika Gaede:      Chat pop up is annoying. Best way is to wipe it off; I'm on iPhone.

00:38:45      Kym Nicholson:      Yes, the media did not give enough discourse re the NZ shooter.

00:38:48      Linda Tullberg: YouTube is a major vehicle for conspiracies of all types from flat earthers to QAnon to white supremacists.

00:39:19      Sue Gilbey:      <https://thethreepercenters.org/about-us/> when reading the blub from them on who we are it sounds quite reasonable to everyday folk, I find that very scary and goes to show the power of language

00:39:23      Bill Arnold:      So is Murdoch.

00:39:33      Lee Tan:      It's not social media alone that helps to propagate fake news and hate messages of the far right but some mainstream media like the Murdoch media - by denying the science of climate change, reactionary views on current affairs, etc

00:39:45      Rukman Wimalasuriya:      The Australian flag is usually up at Institutions and Events. Mostly, what sort of people would have the Australian flag up, in front of their houses?

00:39:58      Sean Bowler:      Flags cause wars

00:40:12      Dr S A Hamed Hosseini:      fascism is the product of failed liberal capitalism but also partly the result of radical democratic alternatives to capitalism. the left needs to step up to the job providing the masses that are pissed off by neoliberalism a better option than right wing populism to understand the world and to act and this requires a wide educational project. as far as the alternative is not there and the left is fighting among themselves on the most academically correct way of expressing their sophisticated ideas, the right wing populism continue to fill in the void

00:40:15      Kym Nicholson:      Lee Tan fully agree regarding Murdoch media.

00:40:17      Dion Puru:      Social media has made available a smorgasboard of ideas that can lead down rabbit holes. Dissecting or labelling the elemental groups will not assist us in understanding the radicalisation process. All people are ideological creatures that can carry illogical thinking. As a society we must strive for institutions and process that imbed factual and rational processes e.g. science based, and values such as truth and tolerance. Culture is a product of society.

00:40:18      Katherine Ellis:      Most attention goes to the extreme acts of violence, but what about all the damage that is being done to the voices and confidence of young women in our society by right wing trolls?

00:40:29      Dean Tregenza:      @Roger Tonkin - No it has been in existence for a long, long time. It essentially was embedded in the colonial culture of empire that also resulted in slavery.

00:40:30      Murray Sayle:      Right wing shock jocks wind them up. #BoycottMurdoch

00:41:05      Kym Nicholson:      Absolutely Murray Sales!

00:41:35      ali rizk:      making it much more dangerous

00:41:58      Barbara Ryan:      Are far right groups linked to individualistic cultures I wonder?

00:42:02      Denise Shrivell:      I also recall a study from Victorian academics which looked at NewsCorp's role in the rise of right wing recruitment. There was an article in the Saturday Paper about this.

00:42:31      Barbara Ryan:      Wow, would love to read that, can you remember roughly when Denise?

00:43:03      Lucy Tighe:      I'd love to read about that as well!

00:43:07 Bill Young: Never mention the name. I don't wish to know who they are - they don't deserve the publicity or notoriety.

00:43:24 Eve Stafford: Could you unpack more about the relationship between misogyny, domestic violence, and incels AND R wing extremism and violence?

00:43:58 Cindy He: we should also look into the reasons why commentators like Jordan Peterson are so appealing to men, especially young men who fall to extremism. Traditional expectations of male success are no longer that achievable in today's social and economic environment.

00:44:13 Cindy He: and that causes a lot of disillusionment

00:44:25 Judith Treanor: Are we going to have to experience a horrific attack as per Christchurch in Australia before our government actually acts?

00:44:36 Denise Shrivell: @barbara - it was August 2019 - just google it (may not be able to do that for much longer!)

00:44:47 prudence Trinca: @Eve Stafford —>Toxic Masculinity

00:44:47 Katherine Ellis: Do you engage with the Centre for Humane Technology, who are trying to fight the social media's power to influence? Surely the algorithms are an issue? <https://www.humanetech.com/who-we-are#our-story>

00:44:56 Roger tonkin: White Supremacy is not just Right-wing. It has a Left-Wing component.

00:45:01 Alan Gribbin: one classic answer to much understanding is to promote and provide a free press. currently this is well and truly under attack from the far right

00:45:45 ali rizk: aussie govt will be under pressure to take this issue more seriously I think with the change of power in America and the fact that Joe Biden is focusing on right wing extremism as a priority

00:45:49 Marie Yau: so much white-perpetrated violence is put down to mental health issues and not called terrorism

00:46:42 Denise Shrivell: Yes Christine! It's frightening.

00:47:01 Craig Walter: Disgruntled people becoming increasingly frustrated with conditions and downturns are similar in a way to those looking for an answer - 'I'll save you' (paraphrase) said Hitler who then inspired people to get out of their economic plight or want to dream, - 'make America Great' = 'soft fascism' to tap into...

00:47:24 Kerry Vern: Campaign to oppose a mosque in the Hunter was whipped up by specific far right activists who already had form in organising against mosques etc. Reclaim Australia & Stop the Buchanan Mosque on Facebook joined together (even though the Stop the Mosque page had denied it) I still have the screenshots. At their rally in Cessnock they had about 500 people & a section tried to get access to the Mosque supporters & threatened violence. Later many Cessnock people were appalled at their violence & threats.

00:47:30 Barbara Ryan: Thanks @Denise...ha ha, I use DuckDuckGo.

00:47:43 Anne Layton-Bennett: How the media uses language to describe extremism, terrorism and rise of right wing groups is definitely important

00:48:22 Tim Dymond: Note: the first ever legislation passed by the Federal Parliament in 1901 was the 'Immigration Restriction Act'. MPs were quite clear this meant White Australia.

00:48:26 Lucas Hainsworth: Behind every single fringe group or conspiracy theory, there is a sliver of truth that exists which they use as the foundation to build their rotten house of ideas upon.

00:48:43 Fred Sim: Do we think that this reckoning has to do with our past in not only how we have approached the fact we are "in Asia", but also the treatment of our First Nations people. We seem to not be able to reflect on this and even recognise it, let alone build the bridges forward (rather than pretending it ever happened and the defensive "lets move on" approach)

00:48:57 Alistair McCulloch: Dr Johnson was correct in 1775 when he said, "Patriotism is the last refuge of the scoundrel."

00:49:34 ali rizk: some white supremasist groups were not "anti-government" but have become more so now after Trumps loss

00:49:44 Danelle Dobinson: Is this the study? <http://www.diva-portal.org/smash/record.jsf?pid=diva2%3A1481318&dswid=-4861>

00:49:56 Pauline Roberts: Is it just me or do other attendees feel that ScoMo has inappropriately used the Australian flag as his mask? I find it offensive that one of our nation's symbols should be used for what appears to be flagrantly political purposes. A flag in the lapel is acceptable, but not this unnecessary 'patriotism'

00:50:03 maila stivens: See <https://www.theatlantic.com/ideas/archive/2021/02/the-capitol-rioters-arent-like-other-extremists/617895/>. The Atlantic. The Capitol Rioters Aren't Like Other Extremists

We analyzed 193 people arrested in connection with the January 6 riot—and found a new kind of American radicalism., FEBRUARY 2, 2021

Robert A. Pape

Political-science professor at the University of Chicago

Keven Ruby

Senior research associate of the Chicago Project on Security and Threats

00:50:03 Laura Bedford: I am confused by the statement Anne just made that the right-wing are anti-authoritarian. This applies to some elements of the right-wing, but certainly not fascists!

00:50:20 Nicholas Thackray: I'm also confused by this

00:50:31 ali rizk: true laura

00:50:42 Nicholas Thackray: White nationalism and Christian Identity are both also deeply authoritarian

00:50:46 Lucas Hainsworth: What she means is that the Right Wing are anti government, anti authorities telling em what to do, wearing a mask etc

00:51:10 christine agius: the question of far-right support/rejection of authority goes both ways - there are groups that see the state and its institutions as the problem, and others who want to empower the state moreso to ensure 'traditional' ideas about society and authority

00:51:11 Craig Walter: Unless a new SYTHESIS is presented (somehow) that is a 'Progressive Social System' the rise of 'soft fascism' will continue... and be harnessed.

00:51:35 Lucas Hainsworth: but the extremists are pro authoritarianism (as long as they are the ones who are the authorities)

00:51:47 Murray Sayle: The Nationals with the MAGA hat wearing Member from Manila are prime candidates for White extremism.

00:51:48 Craig Walter: SYNTHESES ...

00:52:02 ali rizk: correct Lucas, remember trumps talk of "aw and order"

00:52:14 Colin Smith: Somebody said decades ago that when the US got fascism it would be promoted in the name of 'liberty' or 'freedom'.

00:52:34 Barbara Ryan: The need for bonds and identity is also human - a big feature of volunteerism for good.

00:52:51 Laura Bedford: Right wing-populism is anti-authoritarian, but not the right-wing in general.

00:53:31 Craig Walter: Need to talk about solutions...

00:53:31 Eddie OTTO: Does anyone else's "Send to:" keep getting reset to just "All Panelists"?

00:53:35 Alan Gribbin: running with the wolves is always prevalent ...its parochialism and leads to selfish and extreme views

00:53:41 Tim Dymond: Anne seems to be making a distinction between the 'authoritarian' right - which is white supremacist, and the 'anti-authoritarian' right which is libertarian. But the libertarian right can easily be white supremacist, they just want to be 'left alone' on their property to be racist.

00:53:52 Barbara Ryan: The historian Rutger Bregman examines the 'other' idea with great examples in Human Kind.

00:53:55 Judith Treanor: That is an excellent explanation - wanting to belong to an "us" means you have to be against a "them"

00:54:20 Colin Smith: Surely every army relies on 'US' and 'THEM'.

00:54:41 Laura Bedford: Yes, good point Colin!

00:54:50 Ian Morland: There are extreme pacifists!

00:55:24 Susan de Groot Heupner: @Laura Bedford: I wouldn't argue right wing populism and anti-authoritarianism is the same. The scholarship on populism is clear in distinguishing both.

00:56:14 Tim Dymond: All those anti-slavery extremists in the 19th century!

00:56:19 Lucas Hainsworth: She's talking about stretching the Overton window as a method of introducing more extreme views to shape the debate and move what's considered more acceptable.

00:56:20 Laura Bedford: Agree Susan, but that is often what is put forward as the anti-authoritarian stance. I agree they are not the same. (being an aging hippie!)

00:56:57 Peter Rogers: Interesting point about the army, Colin - and the link with far right movements having a militaristic/militia element.

00:57:14 Dr S A Hamed Hosseini: not that political economy explains everything about a movement but the infrastructure of right wing extremism needs to be explored and discussed far more than what we normally find in such conversations.

00:57:35 Fred Sim: It is bizarre that it is a corruption of the language of "us" and "we" into a divisive, an exclusionary thing rather than a "common good" inclusive approach which this language was originally meant to represent.

00:57:54 Marie Yau: good point Dr Aly re: hearts and minds

00:58:30 Matt H: Pauline, I find it offensive that he often has it on upside down.

00:58:34 Craig Walter: Extreme events like Covid is causing deprivation and people want solutions... more climate change factors will play in and unless a new SYNTHESIS is shown the extremists will become more attractive....

00:58:50 Julianne Sweeney: From Julianne Sweeney: Extreme climate emergency has inspired non-violent Extinction Rebellion

00:58:54 Kerry Vern: if you saw the anti-mosque mob in the Hunter in 2015 you would think there was a real problem. I think the attention of the state's police on some of these far right instigators & some arrests for unregistered guns & attacks etc had an impact on their organising.

00:59:13 Colin Smith: In judging movements as to whether they are good or bad, must our ultimate criterion be the extent to which they are based on demonstrable truth? Is it fundamental to all evil movements that they have all bought into some big lies?

00:59:29 Eddie OTTO: And hearts and minds are being conditioned by main stream media.

01:00:06 Alan Gribbin: education and a vote for better gov policies will help...people can acheive better environment with better understanding

01:00:08 Colin Mackay: Not sure about that fred, I think us/them is firmly embedded in our evolutionary/genetic make up. When we go to war, it's against them. If the narrative supports us/them at a meta level, it haas to filter down. We are Australian:-)

01:00:24 Jane Waldock: Making laws is relatively cheap, and always a good "announceable" and good for politics, if ineffective.

01:00:35 Barbara Ryan: Great question Richard!!

01:00:43 Colin Mackay: Evil?

01:01:01 Dianne Longson: Thanks Richard, an important question and an interesting prelude

01:01:04 eva cox: How far has bneoliberalism encouraged distrust that makes people vulnerable to extremists who offer alternatives?

01:01:08 Zia Ahmad: A good start but this topic needs much more robust and comprehensive discussion. Please keep it going.

01:01:16 Fred Sim: It is partly to do with support for the Civic structures because we are so entrenched in "business cases" and financial returns for any support for these very important structures.

01:01:33 Laura Bedford: The terrorism in not just exercised through rare acts of terrorism. It is pervasive.

01:02:02 Eddie OTTO: The invader will label the freedom fighter a terrorist and call their own terrorist a liberater.

01:02:03 Barbara Ryan: @Colin, yes there is a range of science that has examined this and concluded that we are hardwired to consider us and them, even though we are innately considerate and inclusive beings.

01:02:08 Fred Sim: What creates the conditions that allow terrorism/extremism to thrive/spread?

01:02:36 Dianne Longson: I find the chat really distracting. How do I turn it off

01:02:43 Alan Gribbin: port arthur...australia was forced by government into quick radical change...can bedone with any topic if the will is there.

01:02:46 ali rizk: you can't bomb ideals yes

01:02:48 Eve Stafford: Fred its loss of trust in govt. because they lie repeatedly

01:02:50 Zia Ahmad: We need to call out and name various right wing extremist groups using hate speech in Australia including White supremacists and Hindutva supremacists and fascists operating in Australia.

01:03:01 Barbara Ryan: Click on the chat button @Dianne...

01:03:09 Colin Mackay: @Barbra Ryan, damn that frontal cortex...so slow:-)

01:03:10 ali rizk: that's why alqaeda and isis remain alive

01:03:10 Danelle Dobinson: @ Diane you have a button on the bottom of the screen if you hover over it

01:03:13 Bev Majda: Hi Dianne, you can minimise the screen

01:03:26 Colin Mackay: *Barbara

01:03:34 Barbara Ryan: :-))

01:04:14 eva cox: Me eva cox, creating distrust undermines democracy and neoliberalism sends individualised messages that send people looking for belonging and order1 Civil society is a counter to this.

01:04:43 Daniel Loats: Should there be discussion of Western governments funding and arming terrorist groups?

01:05:16 Eddie OTTO: Sometimes I think terrorism stems from complete oppression and powerlessness. For example, a child biting another child.

01:05:17 Craig Walter: I'll repeat - there is a 'soft fascism' emerging in the lives of everyday people. That should be discussed.

01:06:08 ali rizk: Eddie- a major factor I think is the sense of being under threat from another race or ethnicity

01:06:45 ali rizk: because there are countries where there isn't oppression and still suffer from this phenomenon

01:07:19 Denise Shrivell: @evacox is spot on (as usual)

01:07:23 Anne Perera: wonder where we can read more about people in the US who left right-wing terrorism, Anne mentioned it earlier

01:07:28 Pat Ryan: Fascinating discussion. Thanks guys.

01:07:36 Roger tonkin: More than 9/11, the videos of ISIS beheadings exposed the full horror of terrorism.

01:07:43 Katherine Ellis: This is an interesting group mobilising young people and young people's engagement mechanisms in CVE. <https://www.youthcan.net/>

01:07:43 Judith Treanor: Will there be a recording of this to share later?

01:07:51 Barbara Ryan: Gender issue is prevalent in gamer culture too, so interesting to hear of the links.

01:08:09 Colin Smith: Thanks for a great session!

01:08:16 Monika Gaede: thank you this zoom session was great! looking to ward to the fullest replay to listen to it again!

01:08:23 Jeff Wicks: Absolutely fascinating. Thanks Dr Ali and TAI

01:08:26 Pamela Collett: Thanks again. This discussion needs to continue

01:08:26 Narelle Wilson: Thanks for a great session - it was fascinating.

01:08:29 Kerry Vern: we live in a violent society that encourages punching down on less able people

01:08:29 Denise Shrivell: A vital discussion!

01:08:30 Charlotte Somers: Thank you for this! This has been great

01:08:33 Anne Perera: thankyou!

01:08:35 Alistair McCulloch: Thanks one and all. Another good one!!!

01:08:36 Hayden Starr (Australia Institute): Thanks to all for joining us today and for participating in the discussion! For details about upcoming webinars and to book head to https://nb.tai.org.au/webinar\_series.

01:08:40 ali rizk: thanks alot

01:08:41 Katherine Ryan: Thank you, great discussion

01:08:41 Kym Nicholson: Cheers for this session, was great.

01:08:42 Claire Powell: Thank you Anee, I wish you had more prominence in the media. We need to information to be promulgated widely.

01:08:45 Terrence O'Brien: wonderful Dr Aly

01:08:47 Peter Hayes: Thanks Anne

01:08:48 David Reid: thanks

01:08:48 Roger tonkin: Clinically analytical ....

01:08:51 Katrina Maxwell: Thank you, fascinating

01:08:51 Saed Bashara: thank you all, great presentation

01:08:52 prudence Trinca: Thank you everyone!!!!
