

FINAL RESULTS

uComms conducted a survey of 1,023 residents across Tasmania during the night of the 21st April 2021.

Question:

Thinking now of transparency and good government more generally in Tasmania.

Should Tasmania pass 'truth in political advertising' laws so that it is illegal for political parties and candidates to publish ads that are inaccurate and misleading?

Question:

Unlike integrity commissions in some other jurisdictions, the Tasmanian Integrity Commission has never held a public hearing or full inquiry, and does not have the power to investigate third parties who may be involved in public sector corruption.

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement?

"The Integrity Commission should undergo structural change so its design is improved and its existing powers, including holding full inquiries with public hearings, are utilised."

This survey was conducted using an automated telephone & SMS based survey systems among 1,023 voters. Telephone numbers and the person within the household were selected at random. The results have been weighted by gender and age to reflect the population according to ABS figures. Please note that due to rounding, not all tables necessarily total 100% and subtotals may also vary. Copyright uCommunications Pty Ltd.
