- 00:28:07 Gerry Constantinou: Greetings from Matraville
- 00:28:45 Beatrice Lucas: "Good for the Hood" values seem to align very much with localfutures.org
- 00:33:45 Sami Arasteh: Greeting from Sydney, Botany
- 00:35:04 Rowan Barr: If any, which businesses in Australia are adapting good circular design and economy practices? Do we have any leaders in the field?
- 00:35:40 Beatrice Lucas: According to the research of localfutures.org, our international trade agreements often allow us to export the same food that we import, often in same amounts. The transport miles are neither attributed to the exporting nor the importing country.
- 00:35:55 Olivia Chollet: Hi Rowan, just a reminder to ask your questions using the Q&A function so that panelists have a chance to answer them live!
- 00:37:01 Rowan Barr: Olivia, can you please cut and paste it for me?
- 00:37:05 Carly Moulang: At an individual level, what can we do about soft plastics?
- 00:37:55 Claire Bettington: People who mentioned "localfutures.com", can I have a proper link please?
- 00:38:06 Olivia Chollet: Sorry Rowan, unfortunately no, I can't type a question as a panelist.
- 00:38:25 Beatrice Lucas: localfutures.org (not .com)
- 00:39:09 Jenny Ransley: Carly, the best we can do at present is to avoid using soft plastics as much as possible.
- 00:39:32 Rowan Barr: use bubbles instead of balloons
- 00:39:56 Olivia Chollet: Thank you Aimee!
- 00:39:57 Carina Turner: love that - "those products shouldn't exist" - call it out
- 00:40:24 Karen James: One issues I see is that people on lower incomes will be forced to buy cheaper items, which are often the most wasteful.
- 00:40:46 Helen Whitkin: Carly, Plastic Free July this year will have a focus on avoiding soft plastics in food packaging.
- 00:40:53 Claire Bettington: YES, helium party balloons should be banned. Helium is a finite resource & should not be thrown away on something so trivial. Not to mention the harm the tags, strings & rubber does in the ocean.
- 00:41:14 Rowan Barr: fruit and vegies don't have to come in plastic wrappers, those that are wrapped are often more expensive per KG if you look at label on shelf
- 00:41:43 aanya Roennfeldt-Bongers: The Australian Circular Economy Hub Portal is great for networking over some of these issues.

- 00:41:56 Rowan Barr: plastic made from organic waste that isn't petrol based is the way forward. this tech already exists
- 00:42:07 Claire Bettington: Oh, thanks for that, <https://www.localfutures.org/> looks like a terrific website.
- 00:42:09 Rick Walters: Banning things is great to a point but we're not going to win hearts and minds (especially on the right of politics) by banning everything.
- 00:42:57 Gerry Constantinou: self serve check outs consume electricity Humans do not something everyone should look into
- 00:43:00 MARGARET LEE: I notice in Asian films that when people buy takeaway food, they often bring their own containers. Why don't we do it here?
- 00:43:11 Lubosh Hanuska: My campaign this year is "Buy Only Essentials". If we all adopted it the economy would partially collapse - as it did during Covid and as we saw in that time the emissions dropped dramatically and the air was clean in a relatively short time - even in places like India and China! Why do we not do it now? Because we are all individually afraid of poverty - that is NOT poverty, that is just living simply and NOT consuming. Consumerism kills the planet and unless we stop we will regret it. What do we want to save - the planet or the economy? Stop buying! Buying and circulating is not going to help. Circulate ONLY what you already have...
- 00:43:51 Rowan Barr: Governmentgs needs to put their big boy pants on and start making polivy and laws that reduce waste and put the waste back on the seller eg: Apple devices are to be recycled by Apple and all materials which can be, are recycled
- 00:43:58 Margo Smith: Shout out to local Gifting (Buy Nothing New) group Admins.
- 00:44:25 Mary Abbot: Gardening Australia an excellent program with exceptional stories highlighting the therapeutic value of protecting our environment.
- 00:44:31 Jock Churchman: There is a huge industry set up to sell us things we don't need. It's called advertising.
- 00:44:43 Maja van Bruggen: I saw a presentation by the developer of the Utilitarian app which is striving to connect people and businesses to accelerate circular economy in action. Lots of potential there ... <https://circularaustralia.com.au/utilitarian-super-app-set-to-drive-circularity-in-the-marketplace/>. More info and other initiatives at <https://circularaustralia.com.au/about/#>
- 00:45:10 Gerard Borg: I think we have to get away from the need for business models and its implification that we need businesses to get things done. Given that the Australian government CAN BUY ANYTHING DENOMINATED in Australian dollars [as we now know <https://stephaniekelton.com/>], then it is the government that should just start a science-based circular economy from the ground up.
- 00:45:17 Mandy Robertson: It would be nice to see reusables in all films and tv shows. I watched a Harlen Coben show on Netflix recently and got really excited to see a Huskee coffee cup
- 00:45:20 Rowan Barr: and repair at a reasonable cost
- 00:45:25 Ngaire Bissett: Your right Rowan and Scandanvian countries have been holding industry to account in this way for years!

00:46:05 Jenny Ransley: Lubosh, that is a wonderful aspiration, but unfortunately it doesn't appeal to the majority of consumers who can't imagine life without "things" people. who have become

00:46:45 Rowan Barr: Ngairé, it is called Extended manufacturer return already being used in lots of Europe. Aust are SO far behind

00:46:53 Claire Bettington: At Federal Government level we have to somehow counter the hordes of lobbyists roaming around Parliament, paid for by the rich status quo Fossil Fuel & mining interests (which of course includes plastics, which are made from oil). Can we get our own lobbyists in there??

00:47:36 Gerry Constantinou: supermarkets should adapt some reusable systems for delivery of goods from producers to supermarkets replace tonnes of cardboard that are disposed every day

00:47:47 David Paynter: Choose to refuse buying items you only occasionally use and borrow instead from your local library of things <https://www.alotnetwork.org/>

00:48:47 Rick Walters: Monicka, single use paper bags are actually worse for the environment than single use plastic bags. Reusable bags are far better.

00:49:06 Evan Hadkins: What does Jo make of 'electrify everything' as a strategy?

00:50:01 Olivia Chollet: A reminder to use the Q&A function to submit questions for the panel to answer live!

00:50:23 Gerard Borg: Claire - unfortunately only money appears to buy access. But in Australia we just need more independents in government. It might mean a massive move against the main parties.

00:50:23 Beatrice Lucas: Lots of ideas here:

00:50:24 Jock Churchman: We need to reintroduce the idea of society as something we should promote, rather than the economy. And think more globally. We're disgustingly rich in global terms although there are some in our society who are appallingly rich. And the Opposition want us to pay less tax so we can be more 'aspirational'. That's so 1950s!

00:50:35 Beatrice Lucas: <https://actionguide.localfutures.org/>

00:51:16 Karen James: Local councils could change how they charge rates etc based on circularity or lack of it. Costs more to pollute/waste etc

00:52:03 Jenny Ransley: For some unknown reason I can't access the question button. I don't know if this is a problem with my computer or the website.

00:52:17 Carina Turner: @karen James Many councils are working on this

00:52:39 Beatrice Lucas: This Localisation Guide is available in many languages. Choose on top right in link:

00:52:40 Mary Abbot: We need to learn from the examples in the Scandinavian countries.

00:52:43 Beatrice Lucas: <https://actionguide.localfutures.org/>

00:53:08 Pam Oates: Andrew Forrest is a huge fan of introducing a tax on virgin plastic

00:53:08 Rowan Barr: removing the ability for hard rubbish to be collected by council where good quality and reusable items are thrown away by people who are too time care, lack lustre or otherwise to donate or give away.

00:53:17 Gerard Borg: Hi Evan. By 'electrification as a strategy' is this

<https://australiainstitute.org.au/event/the-big-switch-with-saul-griffith/>

<https://www.dymocks.com.au/book/the-big-switch-by-saul-griffith-9781760643874>

00:53:47 Jock Churchman: Gerard - yes, more independents - and Greens. People like David Pocock, Zali Steggel, Sophie Scamps etc. also Barbara Pocock (Greens). The two main parties are tied to all kinds of money interests, including fossil fuel companies, through their donations. Those times are past.

00:54:00 Evan Hadkins: @Gerard, thanks

00:54:22 Timmee Grinham: Can you please explain the concept of 'product stewardship'?

00:54:24 Diana Ward: Anyone on Yarra Council here? Can you mandate every apartment building have a green bin? Renters cannot request these from council, so most apartment buildings don't have them

00:54:29 Timmee Grinham: what does it look like?

00:54:41 Rowan Barr: Put an end to companies financing political parties

00:54:51 Rowan Barr: this should be funded by other means.

00:55:02 Jock Churchman: Mary, let's follow Scandinavian countries instead of the corrupt, bloated and dangerous US.

00:55:12 Karen James: we can hear you

00:55:16 aanya Roennfeldt-Bongers: we can hear you

00:55:21 MARGARET LEE: Someone asked about the reason there are no plastic bags in the f&v dept (except for mushrooms) - the Belconnen Markets used to have net bags for sale to hold your f&v and I use them all the time.

00:55:36 Jock Churchman: Rowan, those political donations are toxic

00:55:37 Pam Oates: Yes, I can hear you Nina

00:55:44 Carina Turner: speaking of phones - this is a great use of old phones so they are upcycled for reuse - <https://dvsafephone.org/>

00:56:11 Pearl Hinton: Diana, thank you for raising this!! All renters should be able to have access to a green bin!

00:56:15 Rowan Barr: use orange bags for f&v, sew some fabric bags, many ways to stop using plastic if youre interested and do truly care

- 00:57:48 David Paynter: Find your local Repair Cafe here <https://www.griffith.edu.au/law-futures-centre/our-research/australian-repair-network>
- 00:58:08 Mary Abbot: We need to support the Greens and Independents wo
- 00:58:11 Helen Whitkin: Tips on reducing plastic: www.plasticfreejuly.org
- 00:58:30 Wilma Van Boxtel: A circular economy should be practiced by industry, the people do what is available. We should talk about rules for the industry to apply.
- 00:58:31 Evan Hadkins: If anyone is here from a recycling company. We had to put an old manual coffee machine in the landfill bin because it contained a little plastic with all the metal.
- 00:59:06 Nicole Garofano: Join the circular economy discussion with the ACE Hub Portal - like LinkedIn but for circularity discussions <https://portal.acehub.org.au/> Thanks @Aanya!
- 00:59:46 Rowan Barr: Thank you to everyone who is sharing resources
- 00:59:51 Evan Hadkins: @Wilman, yes, we individuals can only do so much. Corporates and government can do much more.
- 01:00:06 Cassandra Pybus: OK FOLK WHO KNOWS HOW TO RECYCLE USED CLOTHES NO FIT FOR RESALE
- 01:00:13 Evan Hadkins: oops Wilma, not Wilman
- 01:00:14 Gerry Constantinou: Randwick Council has a section for Circular Economy
- 01:00:30 Pam Oates: Simply bringing a container to a café to pop leftovers in at the table is a great way to reduce resource use. I even bring home food waste to compost (skins, tea leaves etc) from hotel stays/restaurant visits.

- 01:02:30 Gerry Constantinou: clothes recycling look up Randwick Council must to fit to wear and Clean
- 01:02:35 Tiffanie Pearse: What! more gold in ewaste than gold ore

- 01:02:59 Danella Bennett: The Clothing Exchange is a great program
- 01:03:06 Gwen Harper: Kerbside FOGO (if done properly) would have a huge circular impact when returned to the agricultural sector to reduce chemical addition and soil erosion, plus the double bonus of reducing methane.
- 01:03:11 Pam Oates: Buy as locally produced as possible to reduce carbon emissions. Transport adds to carbon emissions hugely.
- 01:03:12 Beatrice Lucas: Buy and grow local food. Buy from farmers markets.
- 01:03:32 Jenny Ransley: I offered a perfectly good printer to the local tip shop and they didn't want it. They said it would have to go into landfill. That is ridiculous!
- 01:03:59 Rick Walters: Getting minerals out of waste streams is a completely different skill set to getting it out of the ground. The miners just aren't set up to do that. Of course they could change, but don't underestimate how hard that is. They need to be shown the opportunity in this.
- 01:04:00 Rowan Barr: Jenny, try a local not for profit, child care centre or Buy Nothing Page on Facebook
- 01:04:14 Karen James: Sharewaste.org.au is a great local service - you can find where to take kitchen waste or accept it yourself for composting
- 01:04:27 Jenny Ransley: Rowan, thanks!
- 01:04:29 Maja van Bruggen: To transform the economy as a system we need to change the indicators ... check out Kate Raworth's Doughnut Economics - 15 minute TED talk will change your world

- 01:04:46 Carina Turner: construction in all forms - design/ materials/ fast construction fashion (think The Block / Kmart)
- 01:04:48 Claire Bettington: When the price of copper goes up, there's a surge in unscrupulous people visiting empty houses to strip them of water piping and electric cables.
- 01:05:33 Claire Bettington: Kate Raworth's book is a fabulous read - "Donut economics".
- 01:05:40 Rowan Barr: What did Jo say as a place to find jobs?
- 01:05:43 Ellen O'Brien: Reverse Garbage Marrickville
- 01:05:57 Bart Van bueren: Biggest environmental impacts in your lifestyel: reducing red meat and diary, car use and flights , living space and how many kids you make.

- 01:06:26 Rowan Barr: Thanks ladies for acehub
- 01:06:35 Mary Abbot: Many thanks for a great program.
- 01:06:50 Gerry Constantinou: My Cafe gives me a 50 cents discount on my coffee so decided to bring my own cap every time save the environment as well
- 01:07:15 Olivia Chollet: Hi Meg, I'm not sure comments will be recorded, so I would suggest saving the links you're interested in.
- 01:07:28 Judy Lambert: Thank you for a great session - more good leads to follow up on.
- 01:07:34 Ellen O'Brien: <https://reversegarbage.org.au/>
- 01:08:00 Nicole Garofano: Great discussion! Thanks for organising Nina and thanks for sharing your passion and knowledge Jo! Great inspiration for everyone on the call!
- 01:08:12 Jock Churchman: Great to hear the ideas from the speakers but also to see how many people are concerned
- 01:08:55 James Rolevink: D'oh! Comments defaulted to Panellists and Hosts only. Oh, well.
- 01:09:08 Zita Fogarty: Brilliant! I'm sharing these resources with my workplace
- 01:09:09 Amy Bromley: Wonderful presentation, thank you.
- 01:09:14 Ruth Davison: This has been a fascinating discussion and thank you for all the excellent resource ideas. We are trying to spread the CE word in New Zealand too!
- 01:09:20 Evan Hadkins: The kids are well ahead of we boomers
- 01:09:31 Lanthe Daly: but even mentioning boomers is buying into the divisive marketing ploy- try for unifying language

- 01:09:48 Bernie McComb: What about cars?
- 01:09:51 aanya Roennfeldt-Bongers: Thanks Jo and Nina!
- 01:09:51 Deidre Stuart: THANK YOU so much!
- 01:09:51 Timmee Grinham: Thank you so much to Nina and Jo. Very engaging and informative.
- 01:09:54 Jess Hobbs: Thank you!!!!
- 01:09:54 Merren Roberts: Thank you!
- 01:09:55 Melanie Graddon: thank you!
- 01:09:56 Daniel Mee: There needs to be a wiki for these webinars with a ll the links and references.
- 01:10:02 Jo Press: Thank you both so much.
- 01:10:11 Shiloh Ritchie: Thank you so much for doing this today Jo, and thanks to Au Institute for hosting!
- 01:10:11 Rudolf Blums: Thank you, very thoughtful & interesting subject.
- 01:10:17 Meredith Alexander: Thank you everyone :)
- 01:10:17 Jess Cooper: Thanks Jo- very inspiring presentation, even when I've heard 10s of CE webinars!
- 01:10:21 Jock Churchman: Evan, we boomers are bust!
- 01:10:22 Annette Sartor: Thank you both- excellent discussion
- 01:10:23 Olivia Chollet: The chat is unfortunately not recorded, but I will make a note of the suggestions regarding the links shared by everyone, that's a great idea.
- 01:10:26 Rowan Barling: Thanks Jo and Nina
- 01:10:26 James Rolevink: Kids are key! Per messages in wrong channel, 2x kid's books I have written focus on themes, empowering kids, building resilience, encouraging them become leaders, as we can't trust the 'adults' any more.
- 01:10:28 DANIELA SEVERI: thank you
- 01:10:28 Liz Clarke: Inspiring
- 01:10:29 Claire Bettington:
